Biblical Worldview

It is only in the context of the fear of God that genuine knowledge, understanding, and wisdom can be attained. And with this view, teachers guide every conversation in class in the light of the gospel.

Tailored Academic Plans

Our knowledgeable Family Consultants will:

- Listen to your goals for your child's education
- Explain the multiple options Veritas offers
- Create an academic plan for each of your students

Dream Outcome

Regardless of their future plans, you want your children to be strong thinkers, reasoners, and problem solvers equipped to do well in personal and work life, graciously articulating what they believe—and why they believe—from a biblical worldview. And so do we.

The icing on the cake! VSA graduates consistently receive top scholarships to colleges. In 2022, the average Diploma graduate received $54,000 in scholarships!

Welcome

How did we get here culturally? The impact of COVID is waning. The terrorizing of cultural norms that it catalyzed are not. There are so many concerns to deal with for young people today, it is hard to know where to start. That is one big reason the homeschooling world has burgeoned. The “not with my kid” cry is louder than ever.

Running from something can be a good idea. The people who could, ran from the Twin Towers without a destination. They just needed to get away. I hope families leave government schools with the same energy. But that is not enough. They need a destination, too. Whenever possible, it is always best to run to something, rather than from something.

When we had children, we never considered the government schools. We thought private education was the answer. If you’ve heard us talk about it, you know it was that private education that got us asking serious education questions.

That’s when RC Sproul recommended that we read Recovering the Lost Tools of Learning. It was our first exposure to classical Christian education (cCe). We couldn’t believe what we learned and were prepared to do anything to get such an education for our four boys.

Since you are reading this you are likely familiar with cCe. If you’re not, good. Maybe a friend gave you the catalog. If you are familiar, be encouraged to share the catalog with someone who is not. The popularity of cCe has grown to the point where it can be hard to sort out the variations. This catalog can help. Here are the things we think are critical:

1. Latin in Grammar School (Note that we don’t learn Latin as an alternative to a modern foreign language.)
2. Logic in Middle School/Junior High
3. Rhetoric in Senior High
4. Classic children’s literature, typically in Grammar School
5. The Great Books in 7th – 12th grade

A lot more could be said. But those are the basics.

Classical education, at its core, should seek to instill in students a strong desire to learn from the past to live in the present. Naturally, you are a part of that history, even if a recent part. Building a multi-generational appreciation of learning makes for wonderful family life. Dinner discussions, field trips, and an interest in seeing God in all of His creation are just some of the benefits. One of our children started a school, Lux Classical Christian School, serving the Jacksonville Beach area in Florida. Your children might be next. Thanks for joining us in this unexpected time to serve a world that desperately needs to know the Lord Jesus Christ. And congratulations for seeing that education needs to be very different than what most of grew up with.

We enjoy hearing from you and about how we can better serve you, so tell us your story at Info@VeritasPress.com. It’s such a blessing to hear what God’s doing with your children, and we cherish every way we can be a part of that.

ABOUT THE COVER:

The Colosseum is an elliptical amphitheater in the center of the city of Rome. It is the largest ancient amphitheater ever built, and despite its age it is still the largest standing amphitheater in the world.

What Educational Approach is Best for Your Children?

YOUR APPROACH

What approach are you using with your children? Is it working? Does it work equally well with each of them? Twenty-five years ago, we didn't even know to ask these questions, so don't feel bad if you haven't given them serious thought, either. But by the grace of God, something happened that caused us to ask questions about the education of our children. Maybe your reading this is an act of Providence in your life.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME

Doesn't it seem there ought to be an ideal way for children to learn? This was a nagging thought for us, but we had no answers. That is, until we learned of classical education from a Christian worldview. The idea of an education that taught children in a way that was in line with how God made children (and all of us, for that matter) to learn was very attractive. What's more, this method is rigorous and has a long history of proven results.

Classical education takes a three-fold approach. This trivium, which it is frequently called, is Latin for "where three roads meet" and lays out three stages of learning: grammar, dialectic (or logic), and rhetoric. The genius of classical education—why it works so well—is because it teaches "with the grain" of how children develop. When they're young, they enjoy memorizing and learning lots of things. The junior high years find them interested in challenging, arguing, and wanting to understand how things might relate to each other. During the senior high years, they become more concerned with how they are perceived, wanting to be articulate and persuasive in winsome ways. Teaching according to their God-given tendencies proves to be remarkably effective, not to mention that it trains children to learn for themselves—as life-long learners.

Classical education from Veritas intends to be academically rigorous, distinctively Christian, and methodologically aligned with how God made us to learn. Students of our Classical Christian Education curriculum assimilate:

GODLY PRINCIPLES • CRITICAL THINKING SKILLS • CHRIST-CENTERED VALUES
INTEGRATED KNOWLEDGE • GOD-GIVEN POTENTIAL

... and much more than today's modern education.

Self-Paced Courses

Fun online learning – upgraded!

We've improved our already exciting Self-Paced courses! With a myriad of technological improvements, as well as brand new Project Workbooks, our system is sure to create fully engaged students. Our workbooks feature hands-on projects crucial to many children in grammar school. These full-color projects will save you lots of time, often without much more required than markers and glue. Our Self-Paced courses are the perfect solution for busy homeschool families that want to take the stress out of homeschooling with a curriculum that kids love.

WHY CHOOSE SELF-PACED?

- ✓ Have one less subject to teach
- ✓ Assignments and grading built in
- ✓ Easily track student's progress
- ✓ Exciting for kids
- ✓ Free up more time in your day
- ✓ Progress at your student's pace
- ✓ Enjoy review that is as fun as a video game

HISTORY

An engaging way to learn history, with a talking sphinx, totem pole, and other characters. Simply the best way for younger kids to learn history.

BIBLE

The Bible comes to life with characters, actors, interactions, and games. Students will learn the Bible and have fun doing it. Parents will, too.

OMNIBUS

The Great Books courses covering history, theology, and literature, all from a biblical worldview. Thought-provoking, engaging, and very timely.

History and Bible courses are available for grades 2-6 and Omnibus (Humanities) for grades 7-12.

GUARANTEE

We believe in our Self-Paced courses so much that, if you're not satisfied with them for any reason, you can return them for a full refund within 90 days of the originally selected start date if less than 50% of the course is completed.

3 Ways to Learn with Veritas Press

WITH THE GRAIN

Each child has a unique learning style. At Veritas, not only do we use the time-tested methods of classical education, but we recognize the uniqueness of each child and each family. So, whether a child is a visual learner, auditory learner, read/write learner, or kinesthetic learner (think vark), we want to teach them “with the grain.” They’ll love it and succeed with our three ways to learn.

YOU TEACH

Parent-taught curriculum with scripted lesson plans and the award winning and proven Veritas Curriculum. The scripted lesson plans are designed to help parents plan, teach, and organize schooling for any subject.

SELF-PACED

Online History, Bible, and Omnibus courses, combining engaging videos, interactive exercises, fun games, and built-in quizzes and exams that create a stress-free option for parents needing to take some of the load off of teaching yet keep children excited and eager to learn. Self-Paced courses can be done anytime and anywhere you have an internet connection.

LIVE ONLINE

Classes taught by expert teachers in the Veritas Virtual Classroom. Classes are available for every subject. Live Online classes help parents who are seeking help teaching. You may want to reduce your load or benefit from expert teachers to help you. For either reason, you will enjoy the peace of mind that your children will reach their ultimate potential.

Grammar Overview (K–6th)

For decades Veritas has been helping return academic standards back to what they were historically and to what can be observed internationally. The chart below provides what we recommend. We hope you'll join us. Students raised on this standard have consistently excelled. They read books, write papers, tackle math concepts, and think in ways well beyond their peers. Use the chart to see grade-level recommendations at a glance. If the recommendation doesn't fit, just use the suggestion for the grade above or below.

Drawing With Children

Mona Brookes

Mona Brookes was hired by Gertrude Dietz, the director of a preschool, to teach realistic drawing to 100 four- and five-year-olds. When she sought curricula, she found none. About her experience she said, "Thank goodness Gertrude and I were ignorant of the prevailing philosophy that said you shouldn't give young children any guided instruction in the field of drawing. We assumed it was acceptable to give basic instruction in drawing, since this was true for music, dance, and all the other artistic subjects." With her neighbor, Elliot Day, a composer, she broke down the basic components of vision as one would break down a musical composition. This led to devising an "alphabet of shape" that consisted of five basic elements. Any object that a student wants to draw can be simply analyzed in terms of how these five elements of shape are combined. The result is every child can achieve realistic representation of subjects to be drawn.

There is no better way to teach your child to reproduce with his own hand the beauty of God's creation. This book teaches the grammar of art and is useful for any age level, but particularly K-6th grade. Soft 272p

Ned Bustard and Amy Clark

We'd like to introduce you to Bede... a timeline who strongly resembles a ball of yarn. This loveable character introduces young children to the basics of history in a fun way—once a week, all year long. Topics include: how a timeline works, family history, the history of holidays (Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, etc.), the history of toys, maritime history, the history of sports, music history, the history of dresses, and more. Even a little Church history is included! Imagine how fun it is to learn about timelines using the fairy tale Goldilocks and the Three Bears? A clear way to teach the importance of timelines and how God works in time. A second volume is available, too (see page 18). This is a home run. ★★★★★ Soft 69p eBook available #000090 $19.00

Saxon I

Nancy Larson

This is the friendliest and most thorough math program available. Any student can master the grammar of math easily with Saxon's "incremental approach." We do find it necessary and advisable to use the program ahead of the stated grade level—something John Saxon himself told us he supported—because children can handle it easily.

In using this program at this age you should realize that the text assumes students will read the problems. You may need to read problems to the students. This problem occurs with first graders, too, so there is no need for alarm.

Veritas Press Phonics Museum

Marlin & Laurie Detweiler,
Ned Bustard, and Diane Coleman

The Phonics Museum is an award-winning program that will have your child read a simple book in a few short weeks. Join Percival, a boy knight, as he takes children through an art museum, learning letters and sounds along the way. Your children will want to keep learning as they set out on this adventure. Using classical, time-proven methods, your child will learn to love reading.

Easy-to-follow scripted teacher's manuals give you everything you need to teach with confidence. Also included are alphabet flashcards using fine art, games, music, worksheets, great stories, art projects, and much more—all to teach using a comprehensive multi-sensory approach. Phonics Museum goes beyond simply teaching letter sounds and reading skills. This powerful program will inspire your child with a life-long love for learning! Call or visit VeritasPress.com for special pricing on classroom kits for schools.

The Phonics Museum is also available in an app. Get a free trial at PhonicsMuseum.com.

So which do you do? We strongly recommend the app, if your circumstances permit. It will also work to do both, and that will clearly be best. If that's not practical, consider the app with a Student Kit (with or without the Primers). But by all means don't miss this remarkable time in the life of your child.

"This app taught my 4-year-old to read! My daughter loved the app! It taught her all her letters and their sounds. And within a month she was able to read her first book. She begs to use the app!"

Shurley Level 1 Homeschool Kit and Practice Set; Lesson Plans (13% off retail)
#001421 $124.00

Shurley English I

Brenda Shurley

The most astounding and effective grammar program available. We love that Shurley English program!

1. Who loves that Shurley English program? We —subject pronoun
2. What is being said about we? We love —verb
3. We love what? program verify the noun. Does program mean the same thing as we? No—direct object verb transitive
4. What kind of program? English—adjective
5. What kind of program? Shurley—adjective
6. Which program? that—adjective Subject noun, verb transitive, direct object, pattern two. Check.
7. Verb transitive. Check again. No—prepositional phrases.
8. I—strong feeling exclamatory sentence.
9. Go back to the verb. Divide the complete subject from the complete predicate.

The children also learn jingles to memorize the parts of speech, enabling and encouraging them to chant till they start dreaming grammar lessons. This program is easy to use and you will not believe what your children (and often the parents) will learn!

Author Brenda Shurley says, "The Shurley Method uses repetition, fun, student/teacher interaction, and a concrete set of questions about each word in a sentence to teach students how all the parts of a sentence fit together. It is important to study how all the parts of a sentence fit together because students need to understand sentence structure in order to speak and write successfully."

For best results and ease to the teacher we recommend purchasing the Kit (which includes the teacher's manual, one student workbook, and instructional CD) and the practice booklet. Consider the practice set (practice booklet and practice CD) if you wish to have the student work independently.

The success students enjoy with the Phonics Museum is unparalleled, and this kit works seamlessly with both the Kindergarten edition and the Phonics Museum App (available separately at PhonicsMuseum.com). Your child will not only learn to read quickly but will also love the process. You will, too. Rebecca G. of Charlotte, N.C., writes: "I want my children to be exposed to the arts and music and to love learning. . . . Thank you so much for writing a program that not only appeals to the child, but also to my adult tastes and desires. Your program has the elements that I would put into a program if I would have the time and the abilities to write a program for my children. And I can trust the people who have written it as well." The Phonics Museum incorporates the very best time-tested techniques of several hundred years in a fun art-based program that parents, teachers, and children will be drawn to again and again. For those seeking to lay a firm foundation for a life-long love of books, look no further. These guides contain all the questions and activities needed to fan into flame a student's passion for good literature.

The books covered represent all that is good about children's literature. A great next step after finishing the the Phonics Museum. This is a magical time in the student's reading journey, and these collections of books will nurture a deep love for good books.

In Volume 1 students are given developmentally tailored comprehension questions and, among other things, directions for a marshmallow-and-peanut butter jar easy chair! Volume 2 includes reading comprehension questions that are building in difficulty, and many "extras" as well. Both have handwriting exercises, a clear icon system for teachers to follow, and simple instructions for students to foster independent work.

History of Art: Creation to Contemporary

Ned Bustard

God made us creative and on Mount Sinai gave instructions on how to use art. Virtually all cultures have made art, art that reveals its hopes, dreams, and beliefs. And by studying the art of past cultures, we can learn something about ourselves in the present. Fully integrated with the Veritas History Series (yet able to stand on its own), this art history program was designed to fill one year but is quite flexible.

This distinctively Christian overview of art history covers well-known works of art like Mona Lisa and American Gothic and also takes time to focus on art by Christians and about the Christian faith. Two great works of art are on nearly all of the 32 flashcards, along with information about each art movement studied. The full-color workbook contains comprehension questions, crafts, activities, readings, and features on artists of the faith. Call us for school and quantity pricing. Drawing With Children

You won't believe what your children will draw! Any object that a student wants to draw can be simply analyzed in terms of how these five elements of shape are combined. The result is every child can achieve realistic representation of subjects to be drawn.

There is no better way to teach your child to reproduce with his own hand the beauty of God's creation. This book teaches the grammar of art and is useful for any age level, but particularly K-6th grade. Soft 272p See description on page 13.

Covering 32 events in the books of Genesis through Joshua, students will learn the Bible from Creation through Joshua's Last Words. The self-paced course has clever interactions and striking video. Children join Abigail and

Asher, her brother, along with animated characters Teb, an aloof cat, and Tizzy, a pesky gnat. Designed the same way as our history series, described on page 24, our Bible series applies the same time-proven classical method to studying the story of Redemption. Ned Bustard

Legends & Leagues, Ltd. provides geographic services for anyone who needs help knowing how to get from Here to There. Using their old and new maps, Mr. Latitude and Mr. Longitude are able to take their clients anywhere, anytime.

Wendy has gone home and now Peter Pan is in search of stories to tell the Lost Boys. So Mr. Latitude and Mr. Longitude travel South with Peter, and their adventures include pirates, magic carpets, folk tales (like "Anansi and the Turtle"), King Solomon, a merman, a jinni, a sphinx, and yes—even a hippopotamus.

The workbook includes comprehension worksheets with vocabulary for each chapter of the storybook, along with maps and study questions for each region. Optional worksheets, such as Local Flavor, Sightseeing, and Souvenirs will make imaginations soar.

Old Testament
and Ancient Egypt
History Series

Marlin and Laurie Detweiler,
G. Tyler and Emily Fischer

For years we have taught history in a chronological fashion, integrating biblical history with world history. At the core of the program are 32 flashcards per year over five years, covering 160 events from Creation to today, with music that helps children quickly learn the timeline of these events. This award-winning program also includes a teacher's manual, a song to learn the timeline, and additional books as resources to teach the material. You can still use the program this way. In this series they learn the most important events from Creation to the Fall of Egypt.

Everyone who tries them, loves our self-paced courses. They are the best way to learn history for grammar school children. Actors and animated characters will teach through the 32 events. Games, art, and frequent interactions will have them begging for more. All the worksheets and quizzes are in the course and graded for you. Kids love it.

We also know that hands-on projects are crucial to many children's learning at this age. Pulling together great projects can be time-consuming. This Project book will save you all that time. It is in full color. Many of the projects are ready to go without much more than markers and glue. One needed per student.

We also recommend that you use one of the optional literature kits to enhance your child's learning. There are two kits available depending on the reading level of your child.

That is why I am so enthusiastic about this project. Pages of History is faithful both to our rich Christian story-telling tradition and to our providential God whose stories these are in the first place." Perfect for family story time or individual study, Pages of History transports the reader through the timeline of the world—providing a view of God's work in every age. In this exciting first volume two boys travel from Creation through the Reformation. Their adventures in history will captivate readers young and old. The book features an unapologetic Christian worldview and an engaging approach to classical teaching while covering 96 major events, captivatingly reinforcing all of the first three series in the Veritas Press history in the format of a compelling story. Excellence in Spelling: The Phonetic Zoo

Andrew Pudewa

Each lesson presents a rule, jingle or hint, with fifteen words which follow the rule OR break it. Flashcards with animals and animal names can be used for visual reinforcement.

Every fifth lesson is a "personal spelling" test using words from the student's own writing or vocabulary. Students study independently, practicing the ten-minute lesson each day by taking the auditory "test" again and again until a perfect score is achieved. Creating a high repetition of auditory input, this "classical" approach is the best way for most children to learn spelling rules and words. Numerous online helps are available. Little House Series

Laura Ingalls Wilder

This is the classic story of Laura Ingalls Wilder and her pioneer family. The first book (Little House in the Big Woods) takes place in Wisconsin and is a wonderful firsthand picture of American pioneer life that will draw children in and endear them forever.

The series is begun in second grade and some may continue it into third. A MUST READ introduction to "chapter" books. The guides provide comprehension questions and activities to teach the books effectively. Throughout the guides you will find projects for building a "little house," making a paper quilt, raising a tepee, fabricating a cornhusk doll, and more! Little House in the Big Woods (3) Soft 238p

The Milly-Molly-Mandy Storybook

Joyce Lankester Brisley

Once upon a time there was a little girl. She had a Father, and a Mother, and a Grandpa, and a Grandma, and an Uncle, and an Auntie; and they all lived together in a nice white cottage with a thatched roof. How will Milly-Molly-Mandy spend her first penny, look after a hedgehog, and spend her first night away from home? Set in the 1920's in England, these short stories about a resourceful and thoughtful girl have charmed generations. The book's endpaper feature a two-page map of Milly-Molly-Mandy's village complete with drawings of cottages, fields, streets, and shops making it easy for children to follow Milly-Molly-Mandy from place to place as they read the story. In the comprehension guide you will find questions, paper dolls, and even an edible hedgehog. The Milly Molly Mandy Storybook

2ND MEMORY PERIOD

Years ago on a school visit we had the opportunity to observe students reciting seemingly endless amounts of material that they had memorized. We were struck with the fact that this is a crucial, if not the key, ingredient to the Grammar Stage of classical Christian education. We learned that these students simply spent a small amount of time each day going through a long list of things to commit to memory. It is amazing what can be memorized in twenty minutes a day. Below, find important materials used that are not found elsewhere in the catalog. Not included here are the Bible and history songs, geography songs, grammar chants, Latin chants, and math memory songs.

Lyrical Life Science

"Promoting scientific literacy through song" is how these clever folks describe this fabulous tool. We don't teach science in grammar school—meaningful science requires certain language and mathematical mastery. Yet scientific memorization is important, and this is the tool. Sing "Oh Bacteria" instead of "Oh Suzanna" and "Cold Blooded Vertebrates" instead of "When Johnny Comes Marching Home." Your order includes the printed text and workbook and CD.

The Westminster Shorter Catechism Songs

Holly Dutton

When our boys were young we had them memorize all 107 answers to the Shorter Catechism. Why? Because the questions and answers provide a clear and concise, yet comprehensive, statement of doctrine and beliefs of Christianity—clarity of what they believe that will benefit them all their lives. We've also always been huge proponents of memorizing with music. Imagine our delight when we discovered these simple, melodic tunes with such clear pronunciation. We know that you'll love all four volumes. We wish we'd had them.

New Testament, Greece and Rome History Series

Marlin and Laurie Detweiler

G. Tyler and Emily Fischer

This series starts with civilizations that developed in ancient Greece. It then covers Greece, Rome, and New Testament events that coincide with the timeframe—32 events in all. Children learn biblically-recorded history alongside non-biblically-recorded history in a remarkable way to understand these important times. Everyone who tries them, loves our self-paced courses. They are the best way to learn history for grammar school children. Actors and animated characters will teach through the 32 events. Games, art, and frequent interactions will have them begging for more. All the worksheets and quizzes are in the course and graded for you. Kids love it.

We also know that hands-on projects are crucial to many children's learning at this age. Pulling together great projects can be time-consuming. This Project book will save you all that time. It is in full color. Many of the projects are ready to go without much more than markers and glue. One needed per student.

The History

Flashcards are a must for the Self-Paced course, and there's optional historical fiction. Whether you use the Self-Paced or You Teach option, you'll be amazed at the learning of your students. Read more about the series on page 24. eBooks and CDs available

Alice in Wonderland

Lewis Carroll

"Would you tell me, please, which way I ought to go from here?"

"That depends a good deal on where you want to get to," said the Cat.

"I don't much care where," said Alice.

"Then it doesn't matter which way you go," said the Cat.

"—so long as I get SOMEWHERE,"

Alice added as an explanation.

"Oh, you're sure to do that," said the Cat, "if you only walk long enough."

First published in 1865, this crazy classic continues to delight children and adults alike. In this guide to Alice you will find a croquet game, a disappearing cat, practical questions and (in a very unWonderland way) helpful answers along with additional information to help you understand the madness of it all.

Chronicles to Malachi

Marlin and Laurie Detweiler

G. Tyler and Emily Fischer

You want a self-paced course for this, and we're sorry we don't have it yet (or even a forecasted date). That doesn't mean your children should overlook studying these important books of the Bible. One of our favorite verses is found in Micah 6:8. You need to teach the whole Bible to develop the whole child. Sadly, it won't be as easy as self-paced course, but it will be worth it. Using the cards, memory song, and teacher's manual, students study 32 events, learning about the major and minor prophets, the sufferings of Job, and how these books lead to the coming Messiah. Designed the same way as our history series, described on page 24. eBooks and CDs available

Middle Ages, Renaissance, and Reformation History Series

Marlin and Laurie Detweiler,
 G. Tyler and Emily Fischer

The Dark Ages? Hardly! They're neither unknown nor backward. This is a crucial period to study, as it connects us to biblical times and ancient civilizations. Colorful historical characters from Augustine to Alfred to Marco Polo to Gutenberg to Luther fill the landscape of this remarkable period.

Students can learn Self-Paced or You Teach. Everyone who tries them, loves our self-paced courses. They are the best way to learn history for grammar school children. Actors and animated characters will teach through the 32 events. Games, art, and frequent interactions will have them begging for more. All the worksheets and quizzes are in the course and graded for you. Kids love it. History flashcards are recommended for the Self-Paced, historical fiction is optional.

We also know that hands-on projects are crucial to many children's learning at this age. Pulling together great projects can be time-consuming. This Project book will save you all that time. It is in full color. Many of the projects are ready to go without much more than markers and glue. One needed per student. Read more about the series on page 24. eBooks and CDs available

Dangerous Journey

John Bunyan, Oliver Hunkin

A world famous edition of Bunyan's classic tale A Pilgrim's Progress. Most of the brilliant illustrations are full- or double-page spreads with the text in a large, elegant typeface arranged in a variety of patterns around them. Gloomy dungeons, dark forests, black rivers and gray-clouded skies sustain the mood of danger and hardship. Useful for a variety of ages, this is one of the few books well worth reading in a children's edition. The comprehension guide has students make a "lift-the-flap" travel log of the journey to discuss the major themes of the Christian faith presented in the story. There are questions for every chapter, room to write in the answers, and solutions in the back.

Macbeth, Shakespeare's shortest tragedy, tells the story of a brave Scottish general who receives a prophecy from a trio of witches that one day he will be king. Murder, guilt, and madness fill this tale. When you are studying the Renaissance why not have your students perform this famous play? We did and the children loved it! In fact, our son Travis (then 11) told another of our sons, Parker (then 9), to "stop telling those odious tyrant lies" while attempting to settle on a choice of cereal at the store. (3) Soft 211p

Gospels Bible Series

Marlin and Laurie Detweiler,
G. Tyler and Emily Fischer

We think of the Gospels as the heart of the Bible. Stories about Jesus dominate much of our teaching—and for very good reason. This series incorporates those stories, but it does more. Through the 32 events studied, students will learn to sequence events, to see how the four Gospels parallel each other and come to grips with the most influential 33 years in all of history. Again, the Self-Paced options with the Bible cards is ours and most Veritas Families' favorite approach. You Teach is an option, too. But choose one. Don't make the mistake we see too often—that a merely devotional approach will produce adequate Bible learning. eBooks and CDs available

Ned Bustard

By stepping into their maps Mr. Longitude and Mr. Latitude can go anywhere in the world. In this book they travel with the famous lumberjack, Paul Bunyan, in search for his blue ox. Nothing can stop them—not ghosts, giants, piranhas, pirates, or even the evil sea witch, Qalupalik. The trip includes a visit to El Dorado, Atlantis, and New York. They go sailing, spelunking, and they even get to meet Bigfoot!

The workbook includes comprehension worksheets with vocabulary for each chapter of the storybook, along with maps and study questions for each region. Optional worksheets, such as Local Flavor, Sightseeing, and Souvenirs will make imaginations soar.

Explorers to 1815 History Series

Marlin and Laurie Detweiler,
G. Tyler and Emily Fischer

Fifth grade history, starting with the explorers, focuses on early America. George Washington and other Founding Fathers appear along with lesser-known yet important characters, like Jonathan Edwards and George Whitefield. Children will enjoy learning the sequence of 32 events that led to the founding of America through the War of 1812 and the Missouri Compromise. They will learn what we didn't in our public school education: that America's founding was greatly influenced by the biblical thinking that produced the Massachusetts Bay Colony and the First Great Awakening. Again, the creative engagement of the Self-Paced course makes it our recommendation. You'll need the history flashcards and should consider the optional historical fiction that accompanies the course. Everyone who tries them, loves our Self-Paced courses. They are the best way to learn history for grammar school children.

We also know that hands-on projects are crucial to many children's learning at this age. Pulling together great projects can be time-consuming. This Project book will save you all that time.

It is in full color. Many of the projects are ready to go without much more than markers and glue. One is needed per student. Read more about the series on page 24.

Swiss Family Robinson

Johann Wyss

"What our limited reason cannot grasp, let us be content to acknowledge as the workings of Almighty power and wisdom, and thankfully trust in that 'Rock,' which, were it not higher than we, would afford no sense of security to the immortal soul."

Join Ernest, Fritz, Franz, Mother and Father as they survive a shipwreck and start a new life for themselves on a deserted island. It is refreshing reading as they offer thanks to God for His provisions. Be careful though, your children may have a new weekend project for you after reading this. Our family built a four level tree house, rising 23 feet off the ground. With Dad's help of course. Along with questions and answers for every chapter, the guide boasts a Latin/English card game, a Pemmican recipe, instructions to make a bow and arrow, and more fun things. But watch out—there is a little bit of math in there too! Written specifically to work with the above Puffin classic version of the book. (2) Soft 472p

Ned Bustard

God made us creative and on Mount Sinai gave instructions on how to use art. Virtually all cultures have made art, art that reveals its hopes, dreams, and beliefs. And by studying the art of past cultures, we can learn something about ourselves in the present.

History of Art: Creation to Contemporary is a distinctively Christian overview covering well-known works of art, from the Lascaux Cave paintings and Winged Victory to the Mona Lisa and American Gothic. But the program also takes time to focus on art by Christians and about the Christian faith.

This art history curriculum was designed to be flexible in order to add beauty not burden to your students' learning experience. There are at least four ways to use this art history curriculum:

OPTION ONE

Two great works of art are on each of the 32 flashcards, along with information about each art movement studied. The full-color workbook contains comprehension questions, crafts, activities, readings, and features on artists of the faith.

OPTION TWO

Fully integrated with the Veritas History Series (yet able to stand on its own), this art history program can extend from second grade to sixth, to enjoy several cards at a time. Each card has a color bar across the top of the card that matches the history cards, and the overview pages have timelines that use the history card number system to place the art in the proper sequence.

OPTION THREE

The versatility of this curriculum makes it possible to consider using it as a transitional program in 7th grade, because it spans all of Western history. Although full of fun activities for younger kids, the textbook also has in-depth readings for older students about such things as the Golden Mean, perspective, interviews with contemporary artists of faith, and more.

OPTION FOUR

Finally, the art history cards could be used to complement an art program where students are learning to "do" art that you may already be using, mixing them in as a way to add "appreciating" art, its depth and inspiration, while developing basic art skills. Your student will be able to identify all the major art movements in Western art as well as know the titles and artists responsible for over five dozen artistic masterpieces. These movements and works of art are the grammar of art history and will allow the student to navigate nearly every museum of Western art in the world, as well as know how they fit in the study of history. eBooks available

Acts to Revelation Bible Series

Marlin and Laurie Detweiler,
G. Tyler and Emily Fischer

Again, we're sorry we don't have a self-paced course or even a forecasted date for this level . . . yet. The epistles and other books studied in this series remain very important to study. They're also fairly approachable for parents to teach in our You Teach format, so jump in! Teaching the whole Bible is what helps develop the whole child. It won't be as easy as a self-paced course, but it will be worth it. Students will study 32 events, learning about the problems and opportunities of the early Church in the first century. It's an important place for their study, as many of these texts will be part of a deeper dive into theological issues in their next few years. Designed the same way as our history series, described on page 24.

1815 to the Present History Series

Marlin and Laurie Detweiler,

G. Tyler and Emily Fischer

Sixth grade history picks up with a young America and moves quickly into the struggles resulting in the War Between the States and, not long after, World Wars I and II. Inventions, industry, and urbanization will be brought into chronological context. Thirty-two events will be studied concluding with Modern America. They will learn of the great tragedies and great advancements that typified the last 200 years. Our hope, as always, is that they will learn from our history in order to build on it, rather than repeat it because of ignorance. The enjoyment—not to mention the effectiveness of the learning—that most experience with the engagement of the self-paced course makes it our recommendation. You'll need the history flashcards and should consider the optional literature kits that accompany the course. Everyone who tries them, loves our Self-Paced courses. They are the best way to learn history for grammar school children. We also know that hands-on projects are crucial to many children's learning at this age. Pulling together great projects can be time-consuming. This Project book will save you all that time. It is in full color. Many of the projects are ready to go without much more than markers and glue. One is needed per student. Read more about the series on page 24. eBooks and CDs available

Pages of History Vol. 2: Blazing New Trails

Bruce Etter and Lexi Detweiler

This second volume covers the last two series, Explorers to 1815 and 1815 to the Present, in the Veritas Press history. James and Lance find themselves in a life or death situation in 16th-century England. James has been jailed for treason to the Catholic Church under the evil reign of Bloody Mary. He prays for an escape that only Lance can help him pull off. James struggles with helping Lance to understand God's hand in history, while Lance is undergoing a transformation of his own. An excellent, engaging narrative covering modern history. You'll love this series. See page 26 for more information. Hard 328p eBook available

6TH LATIN

There are several options for which level of Latin to consider here. Students who excelled at Latin for Children, Level C are ready for Latin I (see page 66). Latin Transition II is recommended for those who have not taken Latin for Children, Level C or have not successfully completed a couple years of Latin. Students who have taken very little Latin or are just beginning are encouraged to take Latin Transition I (see page 63). Following this simple advice will help students excel at this most important discipline.

In classical education we talk of the grammar stage ending sometime around the end of 6th grade and the dialectic or logic stage beginning. The fact is, students don't turn off their thinking as grammar students one day and turn on thinking as dialectic students the next. A transition occurs. To aid the transition we offer these tools.

ENGLISH

Communicating with Style and Effectiveness

At Veritas the English department is primarily about writing and composition. Literature courses are part of our integrated humanities program called Omnibus. With a substantial mastery of English grammar and vocabulary, students are asked to hone their writing skills, learning to turn phrases and write in interesting and enjoyable ways that make you want to read what they write.

We are frequently amazed at the writing of our students. It routinely seems beyond their years, and yet it keeps happening. That's the beauty of classical education. Latin, as a tool of leverage for mastering language, coupled with a thorough study of grammar, prepares students to focus on more than basics.

Learning the Languages of Our Neighbors

Here at Veritas, foreign languages fall into two categories, classical and modern, and they are often studied for two different reasons. Many study classical languages, Greek and Latin especially, in order to master their own native tongue. More than half of English vocabulary, for example, comes from the classical roots of Greek and Latin, and they are the undisputed foundations of the language we use to talk about law, medicine, government, and the sciences. Further, many view the learning of Latin or Greek as the best preparation for the learning of any other language.

Of course, many learn a modern foreign language for what they perceive to be its practical value: from conducting business across the planet to communicating with their own neighbors at home. Increased globalization certainly favors learning to speak one's own and someone else's language, and some will take on the challenge simply to sharpen their minds.

For whatever the reason, a study of foreign languages is part of any solid classical Christian education, and we are pleased to offer our families many options.

LOGIC & RHETORIC

Thinking Clearly, Communicating Winsomely

These two disciplines, Logic & Rhetoric, should be regarded as the paradigm disciplines for the dialectic and rhetoric stages, respectively. Most of us in our own educations had no training in either one. Learning logic—formal and informal—is nothing short of learning to think. Students who've studied logic can quickly identify a fallacious or shoddy argument, and they can construct a sound one. Who wants to raise a child who cannot reason well?

Rhetoric, as it was understood in antiquity, was a comprehensive art just as much concerned with what one could say as how one might say it. Studying and mastering rhetoric produces students who can communicate winsomely and articulately. This capstone discipline has been ignored for too long. We love seeing our students and yours taking what they've learned and using it to influence their neighbors to the glory of God and the furthering of His kingdom.

We recommend two years of Logic in 7th–9th grades and two years of Rhetoric in 10th–12th grades. Senior Thesis is a very important high school capstone course and should be included. Veritas Logic I starts with the more familiar informal logic and moves into formal logic. We believe this is the most effective order. Rhetoric starts with learning about rhetoric and moves into extensive practice to develop effective rhetoricians over the two years.

Veritas Logic I: Informal Logic

Michael G. Eatmon

Logic is the art and science of reasoning well. It focuses on finding and using good reasons for believing something's true. Logic I, using the Veritas Press logic curriculum, focuses on informal logic. Students are equipped to analyze and construct arguments in common, natural language using inductive reasoning. This curriculum covers the nature of truth, means of knowing, and the justification of belief. Logic I also covers common hurdles to sound thinking and reasonable inference. Chief among these are cognitive biases and (informal) logical fallacies. Learning logic is one of the most critical facets in learning to think. This course should not be missed. Formal logic will then be studied in Veritas Logic 2, which is scheduled for completion for the 2023–24 school year.

Veritas Logic 2: Formal Logic

Michael G. Eatmon

Logic focuses on finding and using good reasons for believing something is true. Logic 2, following the Veritas Press logic curriculum, focuses on formal logic. Students learn to analyze and construct arguments in symbolic language using deductive reasoning. Logic 2 builds on Logic 1's treatment of the nature of truth, the means of knowing, and the justification of belief. It focuses, though, on the formal elements of categorical and propositional logics. Topics include syllogisms, symbolic language, truth tables, truth trees, and proofs. Also included are discussions of concept maps and Euler and Venn diagrams. Studying logic is a vital part of learning to think well. Available digitally August 2023.

A Rhetoric of Love Vol. 1

Douglas M. Jones

Do you want your students to merely be able to identify Aristotle's Five Canons, or do you want them to become great communicators? We have felt this problem for more than 25 years. And we've felt another problem—classical rhetoric lacks a necessary distinctively Christian foundation.

That is why we are so excited about A Rhetoric of Love. It explores the art of effective, persuasive, winsome communication and stands in a tradition that stretches back to Aristotle and other Greek and Roman teachers. But it departs from it, too.

Jesus calls us to love our neighbors as ourselves. This text asks how we can do that in our speaking and writing and living. How ought Christ's followers to try to persuade others? How should their rhetorical efforts look different from those of the world around them? How can they sincerely listen to others and then speak truth in love? A Rhetoric of Love offers a corrective. It turns to the Bible for guidance, seeking to follow and teach the powerful example of Jesus's words and deeds. A Rhetoric of Love shows high school students a better way to persuade.

This is the answer that classical Christian education has needed. Hard 458p

It's easy to find textbooks on classical rhetoric. Many offer sound instruction in its three genres, five canons, and three appeals. There's much commendable in these books. What they often fail to do, though, is to train skillful rhetoricians. Enter A Rhetoric of Love. Volume 1 in the series shows students how to shape messages that love and serve an audience. Volume 2 equips students to put specific rhetorical skills into persuasive practice. They learn how to find their voice and use it to masterful effect. Learning about rhetoric is helpful. Quantifying the Beauty of God's Creation

It might seem that math is the one discipline that is unaffected by biblical thinking—that it's neutral as to worldview. Yet how do we know that $2 + 2 = 4$ can (or will) always be true—because God is unchanging. Einstein said, "Pure mathematics is, in its way, the poetry of logical ideas," and with tongue likely planted firmly in his cheek, Andre Weil said, "We know that God exists because mathematics is consistent and we know that the devil exists because we cannot prove the consistency."

At Veritas we are pleased to step up the standard to something closer to an historical norm and to the standard of countries producing higher performing math students. With Algebra I as our recommended 7th grade standard, many students complete Calculus I in high school—both a worthy and reasonable endeavor.

The curriculum we recommend includes options ideally suited for the classically educated student. We continue to offer the Saxon curriculum, which remains in the same format as it was in grammar school. Because it's familiar, you may be more comfortable with it. However, we recommend the track that starts with Jacobs Algebra because we believe it's better for the changing nature of the student, who is now more argumentative and interested in learning through a more dialectic approach. We also recommend Math-U-See, especially for students who struggle with learning abstract concepts.

Algebra II and Trigonometry

Paul A Foerster

When we found out that Harold Jacobs didn't have an Algebra II text, we called Mr. Jacobs and asked for his advice. He recommended this title. It has proven exceptional. This two-year book covers Algebra II and Trigonometry so well that Calculus is the natural next step. Mr. Foerster was obviously a good student of Mr. Jacobs and an equally talented teacher and writer.

An introduction to advanced studies preparing the student for Calculus. It combines classic trigonometry with advanced algebra skills. Mastery of linear equations, inequalities, and systems are applied to the study of functions, the nature of graphs, and vectors. Topics include understanding trigonometric ratios, their reciprocals, and their inverses; trigonometric expressions and identities, and more.

Calculus: Early Transcendental Functions

Larson, Hostetler, Edwards

Designed for a two- or three-semester college calculus sequence, this text easily offers two years worth of calculus for the high school student. It is an extraordinary introduction to trigonometric, exponential, logarithmic, and inverse functions and integrates these functions at earlier points in the text than some others do, providing for a richer variety of applications sooner in the course. This course begins with a review of graphing, functions, limits, and basic trigonometry, then moves into derivatives, antiderivatives, and integrals. Topics include implicit differentiation, applying L'Hôpital's Rule, exponential and logarithmic functions and their derivatives, and more. Note: While this course covers many of the same concepts found in AP Calculus AB and some BC, it does not cover all the concepts necessary for success on the AP Calculus exam.

OMNIBUS

Teaches students the lessons from the past in order to live in the present

OMNIBUS IS A GREAT BOOKS CURRICULUM FOR GRADES 7–12

Teaching children to think biblically about everything is one of the hardest jobs parents and teachers have. Learning from the past to live in the present might be second hardest. By tapping some of the greatest thinkers alive, Veritas produced the Omnibus, a Great Books curriculum for grades 7–12 that grounds students in their faith.

Omnibus is a Latin term meaning “all-encompassing.” Each year of the Omnibus curriculum combines history, theology, and literature to help students grow in their appreciation of the unity of all knowledge.

The Omnibus includes six years with two courses per year. The Primary books course focuses closely on primary-source historical works and events from the time period covered. The Secondary course offers a lighter workload and balances out the course with a greater focus on literature and theology. Taken together, students will earn three credits: one each in history, theology, and literature.

For example: As part of Omnibus I Primary, students delve into the works of Plato, dealing with the Socratic Method. In Omnibus I Secondary, some reading includes modern works by Peter Kreeft, presenting fictional conversations between Socrates, abortionists, and university professors. This integrated, classical approach equips students with both an in-depth knowledge of history and the Great Books, while training them in the skills needed to process and articulate the meaning of this knowledge through the prism of a Christian worldview.

Students completing all six years of Omnibus Primary and Secondary courses will have the added benefit of the in-depth study of all 66 books of the Bible. They will also run through a three-year cycle of history—ancient, medieval, modern—twice, once with the first three years and again with the second three. Many ask, “Can we do only a year or a few years, or only primary, or only secondary courses?” Our answer is the same: Any study of the Great Books to learn to think biblically about everything will be of great value. Whether you plan to do all twelve classes or only one, students will benefit for the rest of their lives by joining the “Great Conversation.”

Learning can happen in all three formats:
You Teach, Self-Paced, and Live Online.

1 TEXTBOOK

Omnibus is the study of History, Literature, and Theology all in one discipline. You'll be amazed at just how much students learn.

2 COURSES

Omnibus students take two courses: Omnibus Primary and Omnibus Secondary

3 CREDITS

Students who complete both Omnibus Primary and Secondary classes in the same year receive credits for History, Theology, and Literature

SCIENCE

Understanding God's Creation

Understanding God's creation and how He providentially superintends His world is at the heart of how we view learning science. Scientist Johannes Kepler described science as "thinking God's thoughts after Him." Albert Einstein said, "Everyone who is seriously interested in the pursuit of science becomes convinced that a spirit is manifest in the laws of the universe—a spirit vastly superior to man, and one in the face of which our modest powers must feel humble." And Blaise Pascal, French philosopher, mathematician, and scientist, wrote in Pensees, a book studied in Omnibus VI, "Faith tells us what the senses cannot, but it is not contrary to their findings. It simply transcends, without contradicting them."

We cannot avoid studying science, nor can we pretend that the science we study can be understood apart from God. Enjoying the wonder of the world in which we live helps us understand attributes and aspects of our God. It is a great complement to understanding the Scriptures He's provided us.

This curriculum from Novare is organized around mastery, integration, and kingdom perspective. Topics covered include types of matter, energy, order, and design in creation, forces and fields, measurement, motion, sound and light, electricity and magnetism, and the nature of scientific knowledge. The teacher's version of the experiment is included in the digital resources. Some experiments are demonstrated on YouTube videos. Students love the narrative's personal style, in which the author concisely and accurately explains the concepts with wonder and excitement at the marvels of God's world.

Battle for the American Mind

Pete Hegseth & David Goodwin

This was the #1 selling book for several weeks in the summer of 2022 when it arrived. It documents that what is going on in public education has been planned for 100+ years. Once you've read Recovering the Lost Tools of Learning, this becomes the next most important read on classical education's value and need. Read it. Share it. Apply it.

Classical Christian Education DVD: The New Old Way

We don't want to sell this to you, we want to give it to you. It is intended to be a primer, an introduction to classical Christian education. You can find it at Facebook.com/ExploreClassicalChristianEducation or on our website free (VeritasPress.com/newoldway). At either place you can view it, download it, share it, put it on your website, etc. A great giveaway for schools and homeschool coops interested in telling others about this wonderful educational model. If this is all your order, shipping will be $1.

Recovering the Lost Tools of Learning

Douglas Wilson

In this literally life-changing book Wilson eloquently makes the iron-clad case for the necessity to educate our children in a Christian school or home school, and he does so while introducing the successes of the past using methodology and content known as classical Christian education.

Virtually all involved in the entire movement intent on recovering these time proven ideas and methods owe their beginning to Wilson's writing in this work. It is a must for all who would see education recover and godliness prevail in the rearing of the next generation. ★★★★★ Soft 215p

What will be your '23-'24 homeschool wins?

We're a full-time diploma family! LOVEVSA so much! It's the perfect hybrid for our homeschool journey 🥰, including the absolutely wonderful teachers. My daughter just finished 6th grade. She has LOVED her teachers and is sad when each class ends.

— Jackie C.

This has been such a blessing. The dual classes at VSA have let us feel confident that our student is getting the classes from a Christian perspective. We are also excited that between VSA and Grand Canyon University's dual-eligible program, Kattie is finishing high school with 34 college credits behind her for a fraction of the cost.

— Janet E.

We have never had a bad teacher. They have all been wonderful and our son has grown so much. Our rising 2nd grader is just dying to do a live class! One more year for her!

— Candice F.

This was more work than my 7th grader has ever had in her life. She is super excited for a break but was extremely sad for her classes to end. She will miss her teachers, classmates, and discussions so much. We ❤️ Veritas and are extremely happy that we left public school and enrolled her this year.

— Jessica S.

Veritas Press has been a trusted partner and resource along our homeschool journey over the past 15 years. Our learning experiences have been greatly enriched by the superior academic excellence, high quality content, broad range of products, and amazing support we have come to cherish from Veritas Press.

— Ina & Carl C.
